Terms of Use

When you purchase or download a resource from Homeschool Safari, you are granted a non-transferable, revocable license to download, print, and use the materials solely for personal or educational purposes. You may share the resources within your homeschooling community, but commercial use, redistribution, or resale is strictly prohibited. While you may modify the resources for your personal use, you may not claim the modified version as your own or distribute it without explicit permission from Homeschool Safari. Some resources are created using Canva and other open-source materials, which are also governed by their respective licensing laws. These resources may only be used for personal or educational purposes. Reselling or using them for commercial purposes is not permitted.
